HOW DOES OUR MEMBERS' WORK IMPACT YOUR COMMUNITY?

- Hundreds of federal public service employees (represented by USJE) work each and every day to enable a quick and robust response to community safety challenges and crises.
- These employees function as “keepers” of public safety and often work in the shadows of first responders, RCMP Members, correctional guards, judges and lawyers. We are RCMP detachment assistants, federal court clerks, lab technicians.

WHERE ARE WE IN CANADA?

Federal Penitentiaries
(minimum, medium and maximum security)

Department of Justice
(National and Regional Offices)

Public Prosecution Service of Canada
(National and Regional Offices)

Community Correctional Centres

Parole Offices

RCMP Regional HQ and District Offices

RCMP Detachments

- In the federal correctional system, employees actively manage risk and support the rehabilitation of incarcerated individuals who are in the federal criminal justice system.

- Every one of us cares deeply about public safety.

HOW DO WE KEEP CANADIANS SAFE?

We monitor and supervise offenders in the community.

We serve as front line staff in many RCMP detachments.

We dispatch Mounties
when there's an emergency.

We monitor and report on natural disasters across the country.

We help inmates upgrade their education and teach them useful trades and life skills.

We handle evidence for the RCMP.

HOW CAN YOU HELP US KEEP CANADIANS SAFE?

Enhance mental health support related to occupational stress.

Address gaps in new federal anti-harassment and violence legislation.

Allot more resources to ensure proper risk management and greater community safety.

Create new role:
Deputy Commissioner for Indigenous Offenders.
